WHAT HAPPENED NEXT?

I am adding below the entries from the 1 Entry Scrapbook which I hold. The preface to the Directory above says: : This is the first edition of the Directory which aims to list all OWs by entry". I don't think this is correct because I seem to recall Derek Hawker producing one in the latter end of the seventies (see the OWA section in Annex G. Practically all the detail below must be from Derek's directory because I don't know where else I would have got this amount of detail from. It looks as though I cut the entries out of this directory and stuck them in the scrapbook because the cutting lines are not square (never did get the knack of planing wood square despite "Obeche's" tuition), and the stuck on bits are not photocopies. In addition I can't find Derek's Directory . I am compiling this in August 2011. If you are reading this and want to add anything please contact me. I won't annotate the entries with any of our friends who are sadly no longer with us - we are all now vulnerable!

BODY OF MAJOR FLOWN HOME

The body of Major Michael Allan, 47, from Malmesbury, Wilts, who died in a car crash in Saudi Arabia, has been flown to Britain for a post-mortem and inquest at Salisbury.

Mr John Elgar, the Wiltshire coroner, was told that Major Allan's car plunged down an embankment after a tyre burst. A brigadier and his wife survived the crash. No details of the officer's unit or assignment in Saudi Arabia were given at the hearing.

OBITUARY

Major Michael Allan, Royal Signals

It is with deep regret that we heard of the tragic death of Mike Allan in a Land Rover accident whilst he was serving with the Saudi Arabia National Guard Communications (SANGCOM) Team on 8 March 1984. Mike, or Nig as he was affectionately known whilst at the College, was a member of the 1st Entry. He had been educated at Chesterfield Grammar School, was a member of York House and packed down in the scrum of the first unbeaten Welbeck College rugby XV. After commissioning into the Royal Signals on 2 August 1957, his service took him to Germany, Belize, Cyprus, Northern Ireland and to the Middle East. Mike was a pleasant uncomplicated man who knew exactly what things he liked in life and in the Army, and enjoyed doing them to the full. He always preferred serving with soldiers to working behind a desk and even into his mid 40s, when he was 2IC Recruit Trg Regt, he was happiest encouraging his recruits out on the ground and was still prepared to show them the way over the obstacle course. He enjoyed serving with Arab troops and they seemed to like him. His first tour with them was with the Trucial Oman Scouts in the early '70s and finally in Saudi Arabia with SANGCOM. He was a good all round sportsman, playing rugby for the R Signals as a young man. He was also keen on skiing and adventure trg and latterly had become an enthusiastic fly fisherman. He married late in life whilst serving in Lisburn, Northern Ireland, and his straight forward enthusiasm made him a devoted husband and family man. Our deepest sympathy goes out to Jane, his wife, and their three young sons James, David and Andrew.

Nig and I were bosom friends and joined Welbeck from Chesterfield Grammar School. His funeral was held in Salisbury Cathedral amid a packed congregation with an oration by The Signal Officer in Chief.
